Applied Sociology, Clinical Sociology, Engaged Public Sociology, Translational Sociology, and Forensic Sociology Programs in Sociological Practice
Bachelor’s Level

SELF-STUDY GUIDELINES
Self-Study Guidelines for Preparing the Self-Study Report for the Accreditation of Applied Sociology, Clinical Sociology, Engaged Public Sociology, Translational Sociology, and Forensic Sociology Programs in Sociological Practice
Bachelor’s Level

These Self-study Guidelines are provided by the Commission on the Accreditation of Programs in Applied and Clinical Sociology (hereafter also referred to as the Commission or CAPACS) to the applicant program (hereafter also referred to as the Program) to facilitate the self-study process and prepare the Self-Study Report (hereafter also referred to as the Report). The Self-Study Report provides the Commission with information on all of the Standards. The Self-study Guidelines provide the Program with instructions for formatting the Self-Study Report and including the documentation requested. The Standards are the final determinant of accreditation.

The purpose of the Self-Study Report is to provide the Commission with sufficient evidence to determine the extent to which the Program complies with the standards for applied sociology, clinical sociology, engaged public sociology, translational sociology, and forensic sociology programs in sociological practice at the degree level at which the Program is applying (hereafter referred to as the Standards). The Commission’s Standards are published on the CAPACS website and can be downloaded on the Documents web page. Programs should refer to the Standards at the appropriate degree level for preparing the Self-study Report.

Note: A sample “Self-Study Report for Big City University” can be found on the “Preparing for Accreditation” web page on the CAPACS website.

Terms and Definitions used for Preparing the Self-Study Report:

Applicant institution: The college or university in which the Program is located.

Academic unit: A department, office, school, or other definable sub-unit within an academic institution.

Applicant unit: The department or other academic unit within the institution in which the Program is located.

Program: The specific program in sociological practice that is applying for accreditation.

Chief academic officer: The official who oversees the institution’s academic programs. Normally this is the Provost or the Vice-President for Academic Affairs.

Program director: The faculty member who has day-to-day responsibility for the Program.

Sociological practice: An umbrella term that encompasses applied sociology, clinical sociology, engaged public sociology, translational sociology, and forensic sociology, including other approaches of sociological practice identity that may emerge consistent with the program curricula, education, training, and professional work recognized by the Commission.
Sections of the Self-Study Report:

The Self-Study Report should be concise, well organized, and readable. The Self-Study Report must use the format described in this document.

Cover Page:

Table of Contents:

Provide a list of contents along with the specification of appendices included in the Self-Study Report. See sample Table of Contents in Appendix B. The table of contents should include live links to the narrative and supporting materials in the appendices for all required elements.

Please note that complete curriculum vitae will need to be provided for the site visitors.

2.5 Structure of the Practice Experience

Provide a narrative with supportive documents placed in Appendix F of the Self-Study Report that covers the following:

- Describe the organization and structure of the Program’s practice experience.
  1. Document that the practice experience consists of a minimum of 120 hours that is overseen by an on-campus academic advisor or an internship coordinator, and by a practice site supervisor in the field. In some cases, the academic advisor or internship coordinator may serve in both roles (e.g., in a practicum). The practice experience arrangement must be approved by the Program Director (Standard 2.5.1).
2. Document the expectations for the practice experience and their availability to academic and site supervisors as well as students, as specified in items a-f in Standard 2.5.2. Place supportive documents in Appendix F of the Report.

3. Provide evidence that the student file will include, at minimum, the following documentation of the practice experience: (a) practice experience agreement between the Program, the site organization, and the student, (b) period covered by the agreement, (c) evaluation of student progress, and (d) a mechanism, such as a portfolio, to document student learning outcomes in the practice experience (Standard 2.5.3). (The student files should be in printed and/or digital content that should be secured and made accessible to academic and site supervisors, as well as students.) Place supportive documents in Appendix F of the Report.

4. Document that the Program demonstrates having adequate time and resources to support faculty and students in the practice experience, which meet the criteria specified in items a-c in Standard 2.5.4.

5. Provide evidence that the Program develops and maintains connections in the community enabling the developing and sustaining of appropriate field placements as specified in Standard 2.5.5.

2.6 Areas of Specialization/Concentration

Some Programs provide specializations or concentrations at the bachelor’s level.

- Provide a program matrix with accompanying narrative of learning outcomes by area of specialization or concentration, as specified in Standard 2.6. Identify the courses and/or learning experiences that are in place to meet these outcomes. (See an example of a program matrix showing learning outcomes by courses and/or learning experiences for each area of specialization or concentration in Appendices C-G of this document).

- The program matrix along with accompanying narrative will provide the Accreditation Review Committee with an understanding of the following:

  1. How does each area of specialization or concentration in the Program constitute an applied sociology, clinical sociology, engaged public sociology, translational sociology and/or forensic sociology component that is eligible for accreditation as a program in sociological practice?

  2. How does the Program meet the following additional standards for each area of specialization or concentration?

     a. Document a separate set of student learning outcomes (theory, research methods, skills, practice experience, professional orientation and ethics) written for applied sociology, clinical sociology, engaged public sociology, translational sociology, forensic sociology, or sociological practice that is appropriate to the particular area of specialization or concentration.

     b. Provide evidence of the special qualifications of faculty in each area of specialization or concentration.

     c. Demonstrate the direct relevance of the practice experience to both the area of specialization or concentration and applied sociology, clinical sociology, engaged public sociology, translational sociology, forensic sociology, or sociological practice.

- The narrative should explain how the set of courses and/or learning experiences address the learning outcomes in the set. Use the “additional outcomes as determined by Program” category at the end of each section (refer to sample program matrices) to list any other experiences that will enable students to accomplish the learning outcomes in the set.

- The narrative should also include the following:

  1. A statement as to whether or not every student experiences this.

  2. Evidence of how often each course and/or learning experience is offered.

  3. A discussion of the requirements vs. the opportunities for each experience.
3.0 STUDENT LEARNING GOALS AND OUTCOMES

Provide a program matrix with accompanying narrative for each goal and learning outcome specified in Section 3.0 of the Standards. In this section each standard begins with a broad statement or goal. For example, Standard 3.1.1 states that: Students who complete the [fill-in the Bachelor’s Program] will be able to discuss the role of theory in sociological practice, and the interaction between theory and practice. Each goal is followed by a series of student learning outcomes. For example, in Standard 3.1.1 the student learning outcomes are covered in Standards 3.1.1a – 3.1.1f. (See an example of a program matrix showing learning outcomes by courses and/or learning experiences in Appendices C-G of this document).

- Through a program matrix of learning outcomes by course and/or learning experiences, show how the Program provides an understanding of the common core of theory, research methods, skills, practice experience, and professional orientation and ethics that are desired outcomes of preparation programs for all sociological practitioners at the bachelor’s level. The accompanying narrative for each standard in Section 3.0 should explain how the set of courses and/or learning experiences address the learning outcomes in the set. Use the “additional outcomes as determined by program” category at the end of each section to list any other experiences that will enable students to accomplish the learning outcomes in the set.
- These program matrices with accompanying narratives and course syllabi (placed in Appendix G of the Self-Study Report) will provide the Accreditation Review Committee with an understanding of the following:
  1. Sociological Theory: Which courses and/or learning experiences will enable students to discuss the role of theory in sociological practice, and the interaction between theory and practice, specifically as it relates to learning outcomes a-f in Standard 3.1.1?
  2. Sociological Research Methods: Which courses and/or learning experiences will enable students to discuss the role of evidence and qualitative and quantitative methods in sociology, specifically as it relates to learning outcomes a-c in Standard 3.1.2?
  3. Skills: Which courses and/or learning experiences will enable students to have the skills that facilitate the work of sociological practitioners, specifically as it relates to learning outcomes a-d in Standard 3.2.1?
  4. Practice Experience: Which courses and/or learning experiences will enable students to integrate academic studies with occupational realities through a practice experience, specifically as it relates to learning outcomes a-f in Standard 3.3.1?
  5. Professional Orientation and Ethics: Which courses and/or learning experiences will enable students to complete the Program in order to maintain a professional identity as a sociological practitioner and adhere to the standards and values of the profession, specifically as it relates to learning outcomes a-e in Standard 3.4.1?
- The narrative for each standard in Section 3.0 (Theory, Methods, Skills, Practice Experience, Professional Orientation and Ethics) should explain how the set of courses and/or learning experiences address the learning outcomes in the set. Use the “additional outcomes as determined by program” category at the end of each section (refer to the sample program matrices) to list any other experiences that will enable students to accomplish the learning outcomes in the set. The narrative should also include the following:
  1. A statement as to whether or not every student experiences this.
  2. Evidence of how often each course and/or learning experience is offered.
  3. A discussion of the requirements vs. the opportunities for each learning experience.

4.0 MONITORING AND QUALITY CONTROL

Provide a narrative with supportive documents placed in Appendices H-K of the Self-Study Report.
4.1 Evaluation of the Program Implementation

Specify how the Program:

- Collects and maintains printed and/or digital records (Standard 4.1.1) concerning:
  1. appropriate curriculum materials,
  2. faculty credentials and professional development activities,
  3. student evaluations of the Program, course content, quality of instruction, and practice experiences,
  4. program data, including number of students in the program at each level, number graduating, number in various tracks (or area of specialization/concentration, if applicable), etc. If a summary of this information is available place this information in Appendix H of the Self-Study Report,
  5. database (or spreadsheet or table) of graduates that includes each student’s current address, present occupation, occupational address, etc. If a summary of this information for recent graduates is available, place this information in Appendix I of the Self-Study Report.

- Identifies program goals and how these goals are being met; include how this data leads to implemented changes for better meeting program goals (Standard 4.1.2).

- Maintains appropriate records to document its administrative and academic activities for two (2) years or from the date of last accreditation (Standard 4.1.3).

Specify:

- If the Program or the unit in which it has been housed has been reviewed by the institution in the past 5 years. If yes, attach a copy of the review(s) as Appendix J of the Report (Standard 4.1.4).

- What changes have been made in the Program as a result of recommendations from self-studies, accreditation reviews, annual reports to the Commission following accreditation (if applicable), and/or external reviews (institutional or departmental) (Standards 4.1.4 and 4.2.4).

4.2 Assessment of Student Learning Outcomes

Through a narrative, discuss the Program's assessment plan as related to program goals and student learning outcomes.

- The assessment plan includes:
  1. a mission statement (Standard 4.2.1a),
  2. an assessment matrix of multiple measures (direct and indirect) showing where student learning outcomes are met in the Program’s courses or other activities (Standards 4.2.1b-c and 4.2.2b-c),
  3. a timeline showing which student learning outcomes will be assessed each year in the assessment cycle (Standards 4.2.1d and 4.2.2a). (Note: The assessment cycle should not exceed five [5] years),
  4. a statement indicating how faculty of the program will review assessment findings annually (Standard 4.2.3a-b). (Note: at least one Program or department meeting should be dedicated each year in the assessment cycle to discuss assessment findings and identify at least one student learning outcome for improvement. An improvement may consist of changes in the curriculum, pedagogy, practice experience, assessment measures, or anything else suggested by the assessment findings.), and
  5. follow-up studies of Program graduates (Standard 4.2.3c).
  6. feedback from an external or oversight advisory group (Standard 4.2.3c).
• How is the information gained in items 1-6 listed above used to make changes in the Program? How will the Program determine whether the changes had the intended effect for improvement (discuss the qualitative and/or quantitative criteria and/or rubrics to be used).
• If the Program is seeking re-accreditation, attach copies of annual reports to the Commission in Appendix K of the Self-Study Report (Standard 4.2.4).

5.0 ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

• Summarize the strengths and weaknesses of the Program in each Section (1-4) reported in this Self-Study report.
• Provide any additional information in this section that will be useful to the Commission in evaluating the Program's request for accreditation or reaccreditation.

Note: As indicated above an uppercase “X” indicates that the student learning outcome is strongly met in the course, the practice experience and/or some other experience. In contrast, a lowercase “x” indicates that the student learning outcome is met in the course, the practice experience and/or some other experience. Programs may have additional student learning outcomes that meet the spirit of the Standards; the key is to explain this in the narrative. The narrative should flow from the program matrix above. Follow the description in the standards to generate your narrative.

Sample Narrative: In SOC 302, Classic Sociological Theory, students are given an overview of proto-sociological and founding theorists of sociology including the Scottish Moralists, the Christian Social Philosophers and 19th and 20th Century European social theorists. Student learning outcome 3.1.1.a is strongly met in two ways in this course. First, students explore the theoretical contributions of early functionalists and what might be culled from it to be used in sociological practice. Second, students discuss the emergence of conflict theory focusing on the contribution of Karl Marx and its embedded assertion that sociology should not only strive to understand the world but change it.

Follow the description in the standards to generate your narrative.

Sample Narrative: All students are required to take SOC 310 which covers both qualitative and quantitative methods. Standard 3.1.2a is strongly met in this class in two ways. Students create a survey studying some aspect of student life. They also do a short term participant observation assignment on the same aspect of student life. As a follow up exercise they compare the kind of data collected from these alternative approaches to research methods.

Programs may have additional student learning outcomes that meet the spirit of the Standards; the key is to explain this in the narrative. The narrative should flow from the program matrix above. Follow the description in the standards to generate your narrative.

Sample Narrative: Students develop the skills listed above in a variety of ways. For example, in the introductory course (SOC 101) students work in groups to be introduced to group processes and decision making (Standard 3.2.1.b). This experience is reinforced in the required practice experience (SOC 480). In the practice setting students work with professionals and clients and observe firsthand how such group experiences lead to solutions that address client needs. In addition, students keep journals that help them articulate their understanding of group processes and decision making. On occasion students are able to participate in the decision making process and actually communicate their ideas about a client’s needs. This happens most often with our students who are working with the local probation and parole office.

Practice Experience 3.3.1: Students will be able to integrate academic studies with occupational realities through a practice experience. The purpose of the practice experience is to provide students with supervised work experiences at a site where they can learn how to apply sociological theories, methods, skills, a professional orientation, and ethics.

Student Learning Outcomes Met Strongly (X) or Met (x) by the Program

Note: As indicated above an uppercase “X” indicates that the student learning outcome is strongly met in the course, the practice experience and/or some other experience. In contrast, a lowercase “x” indicates that the student learning outcome is met in the course, the practice experience and/or some other experience. Programs may have additional student learning outcomes that meet the spirit of the Standards; the key is to explain this in the narrative. The narrative should flow from the program matrix above. Follow the description in the standards to generate your narrative.

Sample Narrative: The practice experience is the culmination of the student’s combined learning experiences including course work. Each of the standards listed above are met strongly in the following ways. For example, in the required theory course (SOC 302) students read about public policy and then evaluate the effect of this policy from each of the major theoretical perspectives in sociology. In the required practice experience (SOC 480) students do an internship with a local organization. A major part of the internship experience is to map out the organizational structure of the internship placement. This assignment strongly meets Standard 3.3.1b.

Follow the description in the standards to generate your narrative.

Sample Narrative: Standards 3.4.1 [a–e] are strongly met in the following ways. Students are first introduced to professional and ethical issues in the introductory course (SOC 101). This introduction is given more depth in the required methods course (SOC 310) when students read about the research of others and conduct their own research. The most intense emphasis on professionalism occurs in the required practice experience (SOC 480). It is in the practice experience that students actually come to terms with the experience of working with clients. Students keep a journal documenting the ethical dilemmas they experience and the professional guidelines they use to solve these dilemmas. Students also share these experiences in weekly group discussion which is part of the practice experience course.
